

Rev. Janet Onnie

Rev. Janet Onnie, who has a wide range of experience with the faith and nonprofit communities, is the consulting minister for the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Marion County.

She is an experienced nonprofit association manager, community developer, and co-founder of the Venice Interfaith Community Association, as well as being a professional flutist.

“As a partner in the mission of the Fellowship, I hope to help expand the presence of our free faith in this community, welcoming those who are searching for a tolerant, inclusive, and challenging religious home,” she said.

“I believe that Unitarian Universalism is uniquely suited to respond to the search for meaning so prevalent in this twenty-first century, and am excited about sharing my passion for our faith.”
With an undergraduate degree of a Licentiate in Performance (Flute) from the Royal Schools of Music in London, she has served as the principal flutist for the Washington Balalaika Society and the Bermuda Philharmonic Orchestra.

She was graduated cum laude with a Masters of Divinity (M.Div.) from the Florida Center for Theological Studies in 2008.

Her post-graduate work was at Meadville-Lombard at the University of Chicago, and Starr King at the University of California-Berkeley. She is certified as a facilitator/trainer for OWL (Our Whole Lives) addressing human sexuality, and Stephen Ministry, involving lay pastoral care.

She is treasurer of the Florida chapter of the UU Minister’s Association, a member of UU Allies for Racial Equality, and member of the Liberal Religious Educators Association.

Under a one-year contract, she will be at UUFMC from Sunday-Thursday the second and third weeks of each month through June 2011.

UUFMC was founded in Ocala in 1982 and moved to Summerfield in 2008. It presents forums on timely issues at 9:30 a.m. Sundays and services at 10:30 a.m.
